The Wicklander-Zulawski Curriculum Guide

INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION of INTERVIEWERS

Enroll in this valuable 10-hour program if you are just starting out, if you live in a remote location, if you'd like preparation for the 2-day Interview and Interrogation seminar or as a perfect refresher of key concepts.

Complete the 10-Hour Investigative Interviewing Course

Attending the official 2-Day seminar is the only way to achieve that coveted "WZ Certified" certificate that most potential employers are looking for on your resume. This seminar is the ultimate foundation for your interviewing career.

Attend a Two-Day Interview and Interrogation Seminar

Network with other professionals and take advantage of interviewing and investigation tools such as educational Webinars, legal updates, your interviewing tool box and a video interviewing tip series sent directly to your inbox from a WZ instructor.

Join the International Association of Interviewers (IAI)

After attending the 2-day the next logical step is to jump right into an Advanced Workshop that will take your introductory concepts to the next level. Take advantage of a back-to-back 1-day workshop or consider the 2-day Primer Investigators Workshop to further sharpen your interview skills.

Attend One Day Advanced Interview or Two Day Premier Workshop

Participate in WZ's Distance Learning modules to keep your skills sharp when it's inconvenient to travel or when you simply need a valuable refresher on key topics or specific challenges. We have several convenient options that include self-guided computer-based training or instructor-led Webinars.

Enroll Distance Learning Modules: Keep Your Skills Sharp

By becoming a Certified Forensic Interviewer (CFI), you are demonstrating your ongoing pursuit of elite status in the interviewing and interrogation field. It's a valuable first step to achieve your status as a CFI and even more valuable to maintain it.

Remember as you gather your Continuing Education Units (CEUs) for your recertification that all WZ educational events count toward your recertification goal.
